

Paul Wilkinson, head of corporate communications, BIW Technologies

Paul has been working in the UK construction industry since 1987, including spells at a consulting engineer, a major contractor, running his own business and - since 2000 - working for the UK's leading provider of web-based collaboration software services. He wrote the industry 'bible' on construction collaboration technologies, published in 2005, and is also actively involved with Constructing Excellence nationally and locally.
